DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-13 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Toepker et al (EP 0 752332 A1) in view of Metals Handbook Volume 1 and ASM Handbook Volume 5.

These claims are rejected for the same reasons as stated in paragraph 8 of paper no. 9.

4. Claims 9-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Toepker et al (EP 0 752332 A1) in view of the ASM Handbook Volumes 4 and 5.

These claims are rejected for the same reasons as stated in paragraph 9 of paper no. 9.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 14 December 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has argued that the present invention is directed to a very specific structural component and that it is not sufficient to merely refer to the Metals Handbook Vol 1, to show that hot-rolled medium-carbon steels are generally subjected to a standard heat treatment, without in any way correlating the steps of the reference with the manufacture of the specific component. However, the Examiner has provided motivation to combine the references and shown that one of ordinary skill in the art would have been led to the present invention.

Also, Applicant has argued that the present invention provides method steps including specific temperature ranges and time periods for treating the component. However, changes in temperature, concentrations, or other process conditions of an old process does not impart patentability unless the recited ranges are critical, i.e., they produce a new and unexpected result. In re Aller et al (CCPA 1955) 220 F2d 454, 105 USPQ 233. Applicant has not shown the claimed ranges of temperature and time to be critical.

Applicant has also argued that the references to ASM Handbook Vols. 4 and 5 do not in anyway disclose or suggest the specific steps carried out in accordance with claim 9 of the present invention. However, the Examiner points out that the references specifically teach a method of case hardening followed by shot peening that produce surface hardening and improved bending fatigue performance. The steps of cold-forming and "further configuration processing steps" are well within the skill of a routineer in the art.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
